About York Angel Investors

The Angels are a group of accredited investors with a broad range of professional experience. Their individual and group focus is to create a return on investment for themselves and the businesses they work with. Their involvement provides entrepreneurs with funding, and importantly advisors who counsel portfolio companies, based on their own success, on how to expedite and manage growth.

YAI’s portfolio companies benefit from our member expertise in information technology, telecommunications, internet, online applications, enterprise, Software as a Service, retail and pharmaceutical. The collaborative mentorship approach and strategic financing supports entrepreneurs through various stages of early growth. These critical investments often represent the bridge between the self-financed or seed stage and the venture capital and/or private equity level of funding.
